Oilpro's Counterclaims Against DHI Group and Rigzone

I. Parties

1. Counter-Plaintiff Single Integrated Operations Portal, Inc. d/b/a Oilpro and Oilpro.com is a Texas corporation with its principal place of business in Houston.

2. Counter-Defendant DHI Group, Inc. is a Delaware corporation and maintains its principal place of business in New York, New York and is a party to this action.

3. Counter-Defendant Rigzone.com, Inc. is a Texas corporation and maintains its principal place of business in Houston, Texas and is a party to this action.

II. Jurisdiction and Venue

A. Jurisdiction

4. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to the Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 101 et. seq.

5. This Court has supplemental jurisdiction over Counter-Plaintiff's state law claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1367, because those claims are so closely related to claims in the action within the Court's original jurisdiction that they form part of the same case or controversy and therefore make the Court's exercise of supplemental jurisdiction appropriate.

6. This Court has both general and specific jurisdiction over Counter-Defendant DHI Group and Rigzone given their Original Complaint and that Counter-Defendant Rigzone's business operates in the Southern District of Texas, This Court has general and/or specific jurisdiction over Oilpro because it maintains its principal place of business in Texas.

B. Venue

7. Venue is proper in this division under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(a) because a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to Counter-Plaintiff's causes of action occurred in this Division and because Rigzone maintains its principal place of business in this Division.

III. Factual Background

A. The Oilpro Website is a professional networking and social media site for oil and gas professionals.

8. Oilpro owns and operates the website www.oilpro.com (the “Oilpro Website”), a social media website developed specifically for professionals in the oil and gas industry.

9. The Oilpro Website allows members to stay informed on the latest news in the industry, connect and network with other oil and gas professionals, publish and share posts about the industry, and search for new job opportunities.

10. The only way for an individual to become an Oilpro member is to visit the Oilpro Website and create a profile. The only information that is required for membership is an email address and the user’s first and last name. Members can also upload their photo and create a member profile to share a variety of information with other members including information about their education, industry experience, skills, citizenship, languages, and contact information. Oilpro members can also upload their resumes or CVs to their profile. The new Oilpro member can then connect to his or her contacts who are already Oilpro members and also send invitations to other colleagues and contacts who have not yet joined Oilpro. Currently, there are over 600,000 Oilpro members.

11. Thousands of Oilpro members have uploaded their resumes to their Oilpro member profile, but these resumes are only available outside of the Oilpro member’s profile when the member submits the resume to an employer or recruiter, in response to a job posting. Employers and recruiters can submit job postings to Oilpro for free or they can purchase a “Pro” subscription that grants access to additional tools and options.

12. When individuals use the Oilpro Website, they agree to Oilpro's Terms and Conditions, which are attached as Exhibit A and provide, in relevant part, that users and members may not:

- a. Use automated means, including spiders, robots, crawlers, agents, or the like to download data from any database of Oilpro, or from the Site itself (for example, site or page scraping is prohibited).
- b. Harvest or otherwise collect or store information about others, including e-mail addresses.
- c. Use, download or otherwise copy, or provide (whether or not for a fee) to a person or entity any directory of users of the Services or other user or usage information or any portion thereof.

13. The Oilpro Website is an original work. Among the significant original elements of the Oilpro Website are the distinctive page layout, design, graphical elements, and organization of member profile pages, as well as the Oilpro homepage and news feed. Oilpro has submitted an application for US copyright registration for the Oilpro Website, assigned Case No. 1-3838435591. See Exhibit B.

14. Oilpro has invested and plans to continue investing substantial time, labor, skill, and financial resources into the development and maintenance of the Oilpro site.

B. The Oilpro Website contains technological safeguards and security measures to protect Oilpro from unauthorized access.

15. Oilpro protects the integrity and security of its network and systems. Among other things, it employs an array of certain technological safeguards and barriers designed to prevent data scrapers and other wrongdoers from gaining unauthorized access to the Oilpro Website.

16. Oilpro employs technical protocols designed to limit the sorts of bots and webcrawlers that can access the Website.

17. For example, Oilpro employs a robots.txt file, a safeguard that provides a set of instructions to any automated technologies visiting the Oilpro Website. While Oilpro's robots.txt file permits some web crawlers (e.g., search engines) to view the entire site, it prohibits and is intended to prevent automated programs like those used by nefarious data scrapers.

18. Oilpro also blocks automated technologies from scraping the data from the Oilpro Website by monitoring for automated technologies and then blocking the IP addresses from accessing Oilpro's computer systems. Oilpro also blocks automated software from scraping the data from the Oilpro Website through website activity monitoring software and blocking offending IP addresses via Windows Advanced Firewall Software provided by Microsoft (the Robot.txt file, monitoring software, and firewall software constitute the "Technological Safeguards").

C. The Rigzone Website is an employment website, focused on the oil and gas industry.

19. Counter-Defendants own several online recruiting websites, including the website www.rigzone.com (the "Rigzone Website"), which is used by professionals in the oil and gas industry to access news about the industry, search for jobs, and buy and sell oil-field equipment. The Rigzone Website is not a social media website; it does not allow its members to connect and network with other oil and gas professionals. The Rigzone Website is a traditional job board system. To become a Rigzone member, a user must provide Rigzone with his or her email address, contact information, and current employer. Rigzone members cannot connect to other Rigzone members or invite others to join Rigzone.

D. The Counter-Defendants scraped member profile pages from the Oilpro Website and posted them on the DHI Open Web commercial service.

20. On or before June 16, 2015, Counter-Defendants knowingly and intentionally circumvented the Technological Safeguards and other Oilpro security measures to use automated means to access the Oilpro Website and download data, member profiles, and other information from the Oilpro Website. This conduct is explicitly barred by the Oilpro Terms and Conditions, which states that users may not “[u]se automated means, including spiders, robots, crawlers, agents, or the like to download data from any database of Oilpro, or from the Site itself.”

21. Upon information and belief, Counter-Defendants have scraped information from websites other than the Oilpro Website in a similar fashion and have developed a negative reputation for this activity on various Internet media websites.

22. Counter-Defendants then published information from the Oilpro Website on a website owned by DHI Group called Dice Open Web at www.dice.com/open-web (the “DHI Open Web Website”). Counter-Defendants marketed the DHI Open Web Website to paying subscribers (employers and the like) as a way for them to access resume and contact information for possible employment candidates in one convenient location—the DHI Open Web Website—rather than purchasing subscriptions at additional websites like the Oilpro Website.

23. Counter-Defendants did not obtain authority from Oilpro or its members to post the information from the profiles to their website. This activity caused Oilpro reputational damages as well as lost business revenues.

E. Counter-Defendants December 31, 2015 10K filing warns that their practices may not be lawful.

24. In its December 31, 2015 10K filing with the US Securities and Exchange Commission, DHI Group disclosed: “We may be liable with respect to the collection, storage and use of the personal and professional information of our professionals and our current practices may not be in compliance with proposed new laws and regulations.” DHI Group employed unlawful methods to collect personal and professional information from Oilpro and other Internet-based companies with full knowledge that its practices were not in compliance with the other companies’ terms and conditions or governing laws.

F. Counter-Defendants have caused and threaten ongoing harm to Oilpro.

25. Counter-Defendants’ knowingly and intentionally breached the Oilpro Terms and Conditions—which they agreed to abide by when they used the Oilpro Website—and circumvented the Technological Safeguards employed by Oilpro. In so doing, they have violated federal law, including the Digital Millennium Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 1201 et. seq. (the “DMCA”), and engaged in unlawful acts of breach of contract and trespass.

26. Counter-Defendants’ unlawful conduct of pilfering data from the Oilpro website degrades the value of Oilpro’s recruitment products, in which Oilpro has invested substantially over the years. Oilpro has also suffered and will continue to suffer additional harms as a result of Counter-Defendants’ activities, including, but not limited to, increased strain on and disruption of its network servers and the expenditure of time and resources to investigate and respond to this misconduct.

27. Oilpro has suffered harm to its computer systems, and has expended significant human, financial, and technological resources, investigating and responding to Counter-Defendants’ unlawful activities, at a cost to Oilpro of more than $5,000.

IV. Claims for Relief

Count 1: Trespass to Chattels

28. Counter-Plaintiff repeats and realleges the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1–27 as if fully set forth herein.

29. Counter-Defendants intentionally, and without authorization, accessed and interacted with the Oilpro Website and Oilpro’s computer systems and servers.

30. Counter-Defendants’ access to the Oilpro Website and the information contained therein required Counter-Defendants to abide by the Oilpro Terms and Conditions. By violating the Oilpro Terms and Conditions, Counter-Defendants unlawfully gained access to and interfered and intermeddled with the Oilpro Website and Oilpro's computer systems and servers.

31. Counter-Defendants' unauthorized interference with and access to the Oilpro Website and Oilpro's computer systems and servers among other harms, reduces Oilpro's capacity to service its users because it occupies and uses Oilpro's resources.

32. Counter-Defendants' conduct constitutes trespass and the threat of future injury to Oilpro requires that Counter-Defendants be enjoined from continuing such conduct.

Count 2: Breach of Contract

33. Counter-Plaintiff repeats and realleges the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1–32 as if fully set forth herein.

34. Use of the Oilpro Website and use of Oilpro services are governed by and subject to the Oilpro Terms and Conditions.

35. Counter-Defendants accessed the Oilpro website and accepted and agreed to the Oilpro Terms and Conditions, which are enforceable and binding on the Counter-Defendants.

36. Defendants accessed the Oilpro Website with knowledge of the Oilpro Terms and Conditions and all of the prohibitions. Despite their knowledge of the User Agreement and the prohibitions contained therein. Counter-Defendants accessed and continue to access the Oilpro Website to, among other things, scrape, crawl, or use other automated technology or software to gain access to the Oilpro Website without the consent of Oilpro.

37. Counter-Defendants' actions, as described above, have willfully, repeatedly, and systematically breached the Oilpro Terms and Conditions.

38. Oilpro has performed all conditions, covenants, and promises required of it in accordance with the Oilpro Terms and Conditions.

39. Counter-Defendants' conduct constitutes breach of contract and the threat of future injury to Oilpro requires that Counter-Defendants be enjoined from any continued breach and to ameliorate and mitigate the injuries of Oilpro. Oilpro is entitled to injunctive relief against Counter-Defendant, enjoining it from further breaches of the Oilpro Terms and Conditions.

Count 3: Violations of Digital Millennium Copyright Act

40. Counter-Plaintiff repeats and realleges the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1–39 as if fully set forth herein.

41. Oilpro employs the Technological Safeguards to protect Oilpro's computers and servers from unauthorized access. The Technological Safeguards effectively control access to the copyright materials on the Oilpro Website, including the homepage, news-feed, and member profile pages, and protect Oilpro's exclusive rights in these copyrighted materials.

42. Despite Oilpro's best efforts to protect the Oilpro Website from unauthorized access, Counter-Defendants circumvented the Technological Safeguards and gained unauthorized access to Oilpro's copyrighted materials, including without limitation the copyrighted Oilpro Website, in violation of 17 U.S.C. § 12091(a).

43. Counter-Defendants' circumventions have caused Oilpro irreparable harm. Unless restrained and enjoined, Defendants will continue to commit such acts. Oilpro's remedies at law are not adequate to compensate it for these inflicted and threatened injuries, and thus Oilpro is entitled to injunctive relief as provided by 17 U.S.C. § 1203.

Count 4: Copyright Infringement

44. Counter-Plaintiff repeats and realleges the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1–43 as if fully set forth herein.

45. Counter-Plaintiff owns the Oilpro Website, which is an original work and Counter-Plaintiff has filed an application for a copyright for the Oilpro Website.

46. Counter-Defendant has copied the Oilpro Website and published that data and information on the DHI Open Web commercial service.

47. Counter-Defendant continues to hold and make use of the information copied from the Oilpro Website and will continue to do so unless it is restrained and enjoined from doing so, and thereby threaten Oilpro with irreparable harm.

V. Application for Injunctive Relief

48. Counter-Plaintiff repeats and realleges the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1–47 as if fully set forth herein.

49. The actions of Counter-Defendant threaten Counter-Plaintiff with irreparable injury for which there is no adequate remedy at law. Counter-Plaintiff seeks a preliminary injunction and then a permanent injunction requiring that Counter-Defendant:

- a. Make no further use of the data and information that was downloaded from the Oilpro Website;
- b. Delete all data and information obtained from the Oilpro Website;
- c. Identify all persons with whom Counter-Defendant shared the data and information that was downloaded from the Oilpro Website; and
- d. Refrain from accessing or using Oilpro's website for any commercial purpose; and
- e. Refrain from using automated means to access the Oilpro Website and download data, member profiles, and other information from the Oilpro Website.

VI. Prayer

For the foregoing reasons, Counter Plaintiff respectfully requests that, following a jury trial, the Court enter an injunction in Oilpro's favor, as set forth in paragraphs 44 and 45, and award Oilpro such other relief as the Court deems just and proper.
